

Louisa works as a guide at the National Gallery in London and lives with her son George, aged 6.

I get up at 6.30 and I make George's sandwiches. Then I do some housework. After that, I wake up George and make his breakfast. I'm always in a hurry and I don't have time for breakfast at home.

We go by bike to school at 8.00 because the bus is expensive. Then I cycle six miles* to work.

At about 9.00 I have a toast with cheese for breakfast in the canteen, and then I start work. I stand on my feet most of the time and I don't earn much money, but I like my job.

At exactly 5.00 I finish work and I pick up George from school 30 minutes later then we go shopping.

At home, I usually cook dinner at around 6.30 and help George with his homework. After dinner, I do more housework or answer e-mails until 9.00. I don't often go out in the evening because I don't like to let George alone and a nanny is very expensive here.

George always goes to bed at 9.00. I usually read him a story before we say: "Good Night!"

*six miles = 9.6 kilometers
