III. WRITING (10 POINTS)

Write a reply to the following email that you've received from your English friend.

Dear friend,

How are you doing? I hope you are fine. I just want to tell you that I'm having some problems with my parents; they don't let me go out at night, or invite my friends. They're always complaining about my hairstyle, the way I dress or the kind of music I listen to. They're making my life terrible! What about you? Do you have any problems with your parents? How do they treat you? Tell me about your relationship with them.

Dear friend,

I'm doing fine, thanks for asking. What about you? I really appreciate the fact that you share your problems with me. I think that parents' main role is giving their children a good education. I believe that your parents are willing to make of you a responsible person.

By the way, my parents are sometimes too strict, too. They don't let me go out very often and I don't go out at night, except with my mother.

For inviting friends, I can only invite those they like or know their parents. But that doesn't cause me a big problem because I don't have many friends, unlike my sister who invites all her friends, but my father is always. He keeps complaining about their behavior. Except that, my parents are very comprehensive, they neither tell us what to wear nor complain about kinds of music we listen to. They tell us that we are free to do whatever we want, but the day we do something wrong, something that is forbidden by our religion or by the law, their way of treating us will change and they will be more severe.

I think that's the best way to educate children. But that doesn't mean that your parents are wrong. Every parents have their way of educating.
